

INNOVATING TOGETHER

Every day the world population increases by 200,000 people. People who need good, healthy and safe food. We know better food is essential for better health. Today, and in the future for our children. That's why we are convinced that the only road to success is to work closely with our customers: innovative food, ingredient and health companies. Our knowledge and expertise in bacteria, proteins and processing is the starting point of our contribution to innovation. Engagement of our customers naturally results in value creation. We are only satisfied when our innovations actually reach consumers. When our customers grow their competitive advantage, consumers enjoy better food and health. That's the reason we come to work at NIZO every day. Now and in the future.

EXPERTS IN BACTERIA, PROTEINS AND PROCESSING

Our highly-qualified and specialised scientists, experts, operators and business development managers work closely together with our customers to strengthen their competitive advantage.

STATE-OF-THE ART SOLUTIONS

Our high-tech technologies and application capabilities enable you to build your health claim, create 'clean label' formulations, valorise side-streams, optimise flavour and texture, maximise process efficiency, and more....

OUR MARKETS

We help our customers in dairy, infant & clinical nutrition, food & beverage, personal care and pharma to improve and develop superior products and processes. Our solutions are used in diverse industries and applications: from dairy products and infant & clinical nutrition, to new treatment models and drug ingredients for serious diseases.
